

Letters from Lisa

What do I do now?

You might have wondered what my new roles look like. This past month, the Member Finance team of Wycliffe USA has been a part of facilitating economic helps for those who depend on the gifts of churches and individuals. In this time of uncertainty, many colleagues and their financial partners have experienced financial challenges. Through the provision of gracious donors, funds were made available for those who qualified for and requested help. Our team was responsible to process those requests. It's a privilege to be a part of the background happenings, knowing that our part of Bible translation is to help other Wycliffe personnel continue to focus on their part in Bible translation, rather than on financial concerns.

Praise!

- For God's faithfulness in challenging times.
- For the legacy of co-workers who serve well.
- For Mom's continued stability.
- For the faithful prayers and gifts for my Wycliffe ministry.

& Prayer

- For continued opportunities to connect here.
- For wisdom to anticipate needs of my clients and provide the best resources available to them.

In my other role, the Stateside Care team began celebrating anniversaries -- years spent with Wycliffe. This month, we'll send cards for a 1st anniversary, a 50th anniversary, and several in between! We hope to remind these co-workers that what they do is being used by God. Our prayer is that they will be encouraged to continue serving well.

In just that same way, what you do matters -- your prayers and gifts for my Wycliffe ministry are being used by God to serve others. Thank you for your faithfulness!

Personal Update

I've enjoyed being in Indianapolis and the opportunities to reconnect with many of you. And, as the "Crossroads of America," Indiana is on the way to a number of places for some Wycliffe colleagues I coached or taught virtually. It has been a joy to meet some as they come through. I look forward to meeting others face-to-face after spending so many hours online together.

I've also been able to enjoy immediate and extended family gatherings. God has blessed me with an amazing family. It's a gift to be within driving distance of so many now.
